When the resolutions given above had been adopted the Exchange considered the arrangement existing between the Chesapeake and Ohio Kailway Company and the Richmond Elevator Company. The main point of the discussion was the transfer charge of $2 per car on all grain going in and out of the elevator from Virginia points, and exempting from that charge all grain received from out of the State.

The Exchange instructed the committee having the matter in charge, and of which Captain F. H. Deane is chairman, to accede to these terms if nothing better could be done, but to communicate to the do to hase terms if nothing better could of done, but to communicate to the esapeake and Ohio authorities that it is sarded as a very unjust discrimination aimst its Virginia patrons, and that the ain trade protested vigorously against sontinuance and desired its committee exercise every effort to get the rallway unpany to abandon its position.

THREE WEDDINGS YESTERDAY.

Church in Manchester.

A very pretty home wedding occurred in the parlors of the "Arlington" yeaterday firemon at 5 o'clock, when Miss Minnie Drewry, the charming and accomplished maghter of Dr. S. D. Drewry, and Mr. rederick O. Bertrand, were united in the only bonds of matrimony.

Owing to a death in the family recently may relations and intimate friends of the ride and groom were present.

The house was beautifully decorated in the vergreens and presented a very retty acces.

Performance—Other Amusements.

It is a treat nowadays to go to a theatre and see a play which is light and entertaining and yet has a moral, such as "The Old Homestead," which was presented last night at the Academy of Music for the first time in Richmond.

The play cannot at this late day be praised—that has been amply done for the past six years. "The Old Homestead" is a plain, every-day story of every-day life. That is why it is so popular. Most of the characters are noble souts who are continually helping along those fects. The cast was all that could be desired, and Mr. Archie Boyd as Joshua Whitecomb secured for himself the heartlest sympathy and plaudits of the large, intelligent, and appreciative audience present. The double quartette afforded a great musical treat and elicited much applause for their fine singing.

The piece is free, pure, and wholesome. The engagement confinues for the remainder of the week and includes a Saturday matinee.

yesterday morning.

Mr. Wyncham R. Meredith, counsel for the accused, made a strong and able argument on the law points in the case, but notwithstanding this the prisoner was given thirty days in jail.

The other two cases against the prisoner, each charging him with stealing $14, were dismissed, as Justice Crutchfield did not think he had jurisdiction, the offences, if such they were, having been committed in Manchester.

William S. Lee and George Cooper, the two small colored boys whose arrest was reported in the Dispatch of yesterday, were charged with stealing a silver watch valued at $35, the property of Mrs. Ann St. John. The boys were polaying on the premises and steeped in the house and stole the watch. Owing to their extreme youth they were np found guilty of larceny, but were given a sound whipping in court. William H. Anderson (colored) was charged with breaking and entering in the night-time of January 30, 1891, the store of S. Spegel in Manchester and stealing nine pair of pants, two suits of clothes, and one shirt, all of the value of $75. Prosser Taylor, at whose house the property of S. Spegel. The case of the former was continued until January 28th, while that of the little was dismissed.

AN EXCITING LIFE.

Few men had led a more exciting life than this gallant soldier who had gone in and out among the citizens of Richmond for about half a score of years, making himself completeous only by his unobtrustweess. Few who did not know something of his history of had not seen the fire of battle spring to his eyes, as it occasionally did when he was drawn out by his intimates, would ever have imagined that he had participated in three wers and that his delicate frame had been literally riddled with bullets.

General Birkett D. Fry sprang from an old Virginia family of that name and was born in Culpeper county Va. At an early age he enfer-ed West Point and after graduating was com-missioned a lieutenant in the United States

Colonel Whitehead to Mr. Royall.

RICHMOND, Va., January 18, 1891.
To the Editor of the Dispatch:

RICHMOND, VA., January 18, 1891.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

Mr. Royall has not discussed the points I particularly desired. I am in favor of the free coinage of all standard silver presented to the mint by our citizens. Mr. Royall says: "Don't let it be supposed I would favor free coinage of silver even from our comminses unless enough silver were put into the dollar to make it equal in real value to the gold dollar." Our Federal Constitution says: "Congress shall have power to coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin." This was done by our fathers. The amount of silver in the standard dollar, legal-tender dollar, has not been changed. It has been acquiesced in as right. The amount of gold in a dollar has been once or twice changed, I believe increased. Something more is necessary to give value than weight of metal. The imprimater of the Government making it a legal tender, piedging the redemption of paper in the gold and silver of the country gives all the value they have to Treasury or bank notes. To have good paper money for contentine in business we must have Treasury notes or bank notes guaranteed by the Government. Now, I would like to hear Mr. Royall on this subject. The Alliance (and it is a potent factor in politics with a decided inclination to Democratic doctrine) has declared against the national banks because the people believe the Government could issue just the same paper without the tax of 2½ per cent. admitted by Mr. Royall as alvisable if not necessary. Beside many object to giving a proference and advantage to one class of property (United States bonds) in the borrowing of money at low rates when there is no longer a necessity for extraordinary war measures to sustain the credit of our Government. Our people will not consent that the country shall continue in debt with its bonds at a premium. All desire a good paper circulating medium secured for the people without the intervention of a monopoly, a subsidy, or a tax on the people with this paper-currency question and

TOF WEST POINT, JANUARY 21, 1891.

LONDON, January 21.—Further advices received in this city in regard to the weather on the continent are to the effect that heavy snow-storms are still prevailing throughout Belgium, and that the main in Germany, France, and Holland are greatly delayed, owing to the interruption of traffic caused by heavy falls of snow.

LORAINE—WARNICK.—Married, at the residence of Rev. J. S. Moser, Richmond, Va., and by the same, on January 20, 1891, Mr. HARRY LORAINE, of Cincinnati, U., and Miss VIRGINIA LEE WARNICK, of Washington, D. C.

AVERY.—Died, at the residence of her parents, 905 north Seventeenth street, January 21, 1891, MINNIE LEE, daughter of James C. and Mary E. Avery, in the sixth year of her age.

The house is sad and silent now,
The little clothes laid by,
A mother's hope, a father's joy,
In death's cold arms doth lie.
Farewell, my bright-eyed Minnie,
Our daring little love,
Thou art gone to meet thy Saviour
In thy Heavenly home above.
We miss her; words cannot express

We miss her; words cannot express
The loss we now sustain.
Yet she is in Heaven at rost.
Oh! why should we complain?
Little Minnin thou hast left us
In this wide world alone.
But we know there is no sorrow there
Darling, where thou art gone.

RAIN Porcess for Virginia: Rain; slightly couler in the eastern, stationary ming weather and rain; southerly winds hifting to westerly; generally colder.

THE WEATURE IN RICHMOND TESTERDAY was clear and pleasant in the morning, collowed by cloudy weather in the after-day has again been very duit, the bubblessed the day being the smallest for a full day for many weeks, while fluctuations were strictly in harmony with the trading, and again there is no single change of note from less nights figure stoopt San Francisco first preferred. Each member of the list was very duit and featureless throughout, and the market at the close was steady for the general list, while displaying some weakness among the lenders. RICHMOND TOBACCO MARKET. (Reported for the Dispatch.)

JANUARY 21, 1881.

Auction offerings on 'Change to-day, 40 packages, and 9 taken in; highest, $23,50; lowest, $6; average, $12.50.
Loose sales at Shockoe Warehouse, 25,90 pounds; highest, $13; lowest, $1.80. At Creschaw's Warehouse, $4,205 pounds; highest, $13.75; lowest, $1. Total sales for the day $3,300 pounds.

Revenue collections: Cigars and cigareties, $4,50.50; tobacco, $4,135.55—total, $5,552.72.

Private sales very light. Large resampling to-day and yesterday of old tobaccos. Inquiry for bright manegonies and dark ones good. Loces dark sold a shade off on lugs and medium leaf, with great irregularity in prices, while in the main tobacco held up stiffly, rich black workers bringing full values. Wagons in this morning indicate a good break to morrow. Buyers have been quite prempt in attendance, and the consequence is more spirited sales, larger branks, and few if any disappointed planters. Buyers who expect to maintain their brands and the tobacco market should by all means and for every good reason take pride in encouraging planters to bring their crops here. It is right for every one to work for the home market, to speak a word in its praise. To musy crops show deteriorated seed. Planters need a change to now various. There is nouth tobacco tied up in too large bundles; this is unsightly and makes the leaf look coacser. Our warehousemen sometimes forget and make plies too heavy for buyers to handle samples. More shisking up of the bundles would help buyers and planters.

Mr. W. E. Gary, of Henderson, N. C., was in town to-day.
